F. A. WERMAN, OF BALTIMORE, SAYS:
 Baltimore, Md., March 24, 1902.
 Being entirely cured of deafness, thanks to your treatment, I will now give you a full history of my case, to be used at your discretion.
 About five years ago my right ear began to ring, and this kept on getting worse, until I lost my hearing in this ear entirely.
 I underwent a treatment for catarrh, for three months, without any success, consulted a number of physicians, among others, the eminent ear specialist of this city, who told me that only an operation could help me, and even that only temporarily, that the head noises would then cease, but the hearing in the affected ear would be lost forever.
 I then saw your advertisement, accidentally in a New York paper, and ordered your treatment. After I had used it only a few days according to your directions, the noises ceased, and today, after five weeks, my hearing in the diseased ear has been entirely restored. I thank you heartily and beg to remain,
 Very truly yours,

A SECRET SIN.

BY A. M. BELLERBY.

"EXCEPT military bands, it is many a year since I have heard music worth speaking of—at any rate, in a drawing room. Would it be too great a favor to ask for some?"

Miss Hurst, who was a skilled musician, at once assented; and when she had given us some Beethoven and Chopin, called on me to sing.

I was no pianist, but did my best with a commonplace voice, and then discovered that Mr. Cooper used to know one or two of my songs.

His voice almost startled me.
 It was a rich baritone, well trained, and he had managed to keep it in practice. It thrilled through and through me as he sang "The River of Years," "The Yeoman's Wedding Song," and others my father used to sing. There was a power and pathos in his voice that seemed to touch some latent chord in my heart.

"Your voice is even better than it used to be, Henry," said Miss Hurst approvingly.

"Thank you," he laughed. "I have tried to keep it in practice; it has come in useful sometimes."

Dinner over, we betook ourselves to the sewing that was to help warm many a shivering body in the coming winter; while the new arrival sat and watched us, talking, chiefly to Miss Hurst. At last their words began to burn like fire on my guilty ear and brain; and, unable to endure them longer, I rose and tried to escape from the room without notice; but the soldier had not been so long banished from drawing rooms as to forget to rise and open the door for me.

"I must be going almost immediately. Good night, Mrs. Rep-ton," he said, holding out his hand. And I could not but notice, as I put mine in his, how steady and warm a clasp he gave.

Shortly after I heard Miss Hurst come upstairs, and made my way to her room.

"I hope you did not mind my leaving you," I said. "I was feeling rather tired."

"You look so, my dear," she said kindly; "and I always wish you to do just as you like."

"You are too good to me," I answered, nestling at her feet, for she had sat down; "but I wish I could remember of whom Mr. Cooper reminds me."

"We often fancy remembrances," she said, caressing my hair. "What do you think of my favorite, Margaret?"

"He is worthy of being your favorite, I should think," I replied, kissing her hand, "and that is great praise to bestow on so short acquaintance."

"I am very, very fond of him,"
 she went on slowly. "At one time, Margaret, his father and I were engaged; but he met with some one else he learned to love better.
 He was not to blame. The human heart is an unruly thing. Only that is why I have always remained Mary Hurst, and why I am especially fond of Harry."

"I guessed there must be something of the sort for you to have remained unmarried," I said softly.

"There were only two sons," went on Miss Hurst, "and a great many years difference between them. The first became an officer and was killed—to his father's great grief—in the Zulu war. Then, when Harry grew up, he also wished to be a soldier. Up to that time every whim of his had been indulged, therefore, perhaps, it was not much to be wondered at that, when the father absolutely refused to let the spoiled boy have his way in this, he rebelled, ran away, and enlisted."

"The shock undoubtedly helped to hasten the father's end, a fact that sobered Harry, whose fault had been rather the result of his bringing up rather than any want of heart. And since everything had, in anger, been willed away from him to a distant branch of the family, he had to remain where his action had placed him."

"Oh, did his father never forgive him?"

"Yes. Happily he was in England at the time of his death.
 There was just time to ask and receive forgiveness, but none to change the will."

"It is the harder for him," she continued, after a pause, "because he has been unjustly kept out of other property."

At these words a shiver seized me. "Some one walking over my grave," we used to say when we were children. But Miss Hurst said quickly:

"There, you are chilly and shivering, and I forgot, with my chattering, that you wanted to go to bed."

Chilly? Shivering? I was indeed, and had need to be!

I had suddenly remembered that the names of Miss Hurst's friend —Henry Cooper—were the middle names of Godfrey Henry Cooper Knight, distant cousin to William Repton, and the familiarity of his features was because I had recognized them from the photograph in the old bureau, and also that I was keeping him out of his right!

I shivered again as the facts pieced themselves together in my mind. Why did he not call himself Godfrey Knight, and put in his claim for half his cousin's estate? And, with another shiver, I remembered that Miss Hurst had told her story with unusual deliberation, and stumbled once or twice over the names.

Did they know—oh, merciful heaven!—did they know or guess what I had done?

CHAPTER VI.

FROM the first day of his arrival I discovered that Henry Cooper was to be a continual and favored guest at Miss Hurst's with the right, of which he at once took advantage, of coming in and out at any hour he liked, without announcement or knocking till he arrived at the door of the room, though generally his rich baritone voice rang through the house before he came in sight.

At first, after the suggestion of his identity presented itself to me, I dreaded to meet him, fearing lest he should charge me to my face with the felony I had committed;
 and how I lived through that time, that haunting terror over me from day to day, I do not know.

"But as the time passed on, and I began to feel assured he must have been ignorant of the existence of any will in his favor, I once more breathed freely, and, to my astonishment, found myself even looking forward with pleasure to his coming.

His continual visits meant that once or twice he found me alone, and on each occasion I strove to make him some measure of restitution by leading round to my own story, and suggesting that if any of William Repton's next of kin appeared to put in their claim, the half of his estate would become theirs.

But try as I would, I could not force my trembling lips to utter the words. I had learned to live my lie; and yet—strange contradiction—could not bring myself to speak the words that would confirm it, even though I knew my base silence was keeping from even half his right the man I was depriving of the whole.

The third time he found me alone he left the indifferent topics that had been our former subjects of conversation, and, to my dismay, turned to personal matters.

"My term of service will soon be up," was his first remark, rather abruptly.

"And then?" I asked, bending over a dropped stitch in the sock I was knitting.

"Then I must look around for other work, see what I am fit for."
 The devil tempts every man, but the idle man tempts the devil," says a Spanish proverb.

"It is well for a man to have to work," I answered, steeling myself against the pricks of conscience.

"And not for a woman?"—with a little laugh.

"We generally have enough to do. The next generation will find —if the present one has not already learned it—that we modern women have bought our independence at a heavy price.

"When we entered into the struggle for bread with men, it meant the deathblow to our true vocation and to their chivalry."

"You speak bitterly."

"The circumstances of my life have made me bitter."

"Indeed you have had trouble.
 Miss Hurst told me some of your story," he said, in his deep, tender tones. "Yet, forgive me, Mrs. Rep-ton, suffering is the lot of all of us; but so long as it is unmixed with sin there is no reason why it should embitter us."

Children Especially Liable.

Burns, bruises and cuts are extremely painful and if neglected often result in blood poisoning.
 Children are especially liable to such mishaps because not so careful. As a remedy DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is unequalled. Draws out the fire, stops the pain, soon heals the wound. Beware of counterfeits. Sure cure for piles. "De-Witt's Witch Hazel Salve cured

 sicians gave her up," writes James Mock, N. Webster, Ind. "The sores were so bad she soiled two to five dresses a day."

THE HERALD.

SPENCER COOPER, : : : Editor.

HAZEL GREEN, KY.
THURSDAY, March 6, 1902.

SOMETIME since there came to this office two copies of the White Hall Register, a weekly paper published at White Hall, Illinois, by McFarland & Rowe. The paper is a six-column quarto, patent inside, and has a corps of county correspondents who furnish the news of the county generally, while the local department teems with news of the town. This indicates that the town in which it is published is one of some importance, and the advertising patronage proves that the venture must be a profitable one. George C. McFarland is the editor, and it is of him this article has to do more than aught else. He married the only sister of our better seven-eighths, who died some seven years ago, since which he has entered the married state twice, his second wife and he parting by mutual agreement, and the last one assuming his name on the fifth of October last. Dr. McFarland is a son of the eminent specialist Dr. Andrew McFarland, who was for many years in charge of the state asylum for the insane at Jacksonville, Ill., and who figured in the Guiteau case as an expert. Subsequently he established a private sanitarium at Jacksonville, capable of accommodating 160 patients and this he willed to his grand daughter, a niece of our better seven-eighths, who now manages it. The doctor himself is a well read physician of the allopathic school, with a taste for journalistic work, he having embarked on that sea several times before. THE HERALD hopes that in this latest enterprise all hopes may be realized and his purse become plenteous with profits from it.

It is difficult to reconcile the statements of some men with their actions. Secretary Long says he is going to leave the cabinet because he is tired of public life, yet he is after one of the prospective vacancies on the bench of the supreme court. The explanation may be found in the fact that the latter job carries a life-salary.

THE inter-trust company is the newest. Its nominal object is to control a chain of banks throughout the country, and, of course, those banks will control everything in their vicinity, that they can get under financial obligations to them.

MR. ROOSEVELT's order to Attorney General Knox to proceed against the big Western railroad trust was doubtless issued on the theory that a bluff is as good as a "royal flush" if you can make it stick.

MR. ROOSEVELT scratched Senator Tillman's name from the list of guests to the Prince Henry dinner for doing precisely what he would have done under the same circumstances.

NEW YORK oculists are doing a land office business treating the eyes that were strained looking for the Prince.

SENATOR McLAURIN now knows that it is dangerous to call Senator Tillman a liar, even on the floor of the senate.

GOV. STANLEY of Kansas has shied his castor into the senatorial ring, and several others are preparing to do likewise.

ROYAL fever is raging among the New York and Washington toadies and rapidly spreading among the species elsewhere.

If Tammany was in control of the town it would be charged with responsibility for New York's latest hotel fire horror.

KING LEOPOLD of Belgium may have had the report that he was coming to the U. S. contradicted for fear of lessening the adulation Prince Henry is getting.

"The spectacle is at present presented of Cuba relieved from Spanish oppression only to be enslaved by the U. S. in commercial bondage"—Hon. D. B. Hill.

PERHAPS the halos around the head of the New York reformers are setting things on fire in the big town, which has been having more than the usual number of fires of late.

"The democratic party should again press to the front the issue of revenue reform. The policy of reciprocity is and always has been a democratic policy."—Hon. D. B. Hill.

WONDER what sort of a talk Mr. Roosevelt gave the member of J. Pierpont Morgan's firm who called at the White House to see about those proceedings against the railroad trust?

THE laboring of the republican mountain on the Cuban tariff question has brought forth a mouse in the shape of an offer of a 20 per cent reduction, if Cuba will enact the U. S. immigration laws.

UNDER ordinary circumstances no man is blamable for striking the man who calls him a liar, but respect for his surroundings should have withheld the blows given Senator McLauren by Senator Tillman.

Lie of Whole Cloth.

Louisville papers last week published a sensational story dated Campton about a desperate fight between the Faulkners and Napiers, in which it was stated that some 75 shots had been exchanged. The sheriff, T. F. Stamper, and a posse were in pursuit, and fears were entertained that there would be more bloodshed, and a whole lot more of the same tenor, according to the report. Parties from Campton, who are every way reliable tell us there is not a word of truth in the report, and lay the story at the door of a well-known penny-a-liner who lives there. If the citizens of that place know this to be the fact, they should wait upon that young man and advise him not to write any more to the daily papers. For 16 years THE HERALD has been combatting all sensational rumors about this section, but when our own people engage in the work it is hard work to make people away from here believe that such stories are sensational. The remedy lies with the people of Campton and they should apply it. Such stories do us no go, but much harm. The Faulkner-Napier story is said to be without foundation in fact.

Difficult Digestion

That is dyspepsia. It makes life miserable. Its sufferers eat not because they want to, but simply because they must. They know they are irritable and fretful; but they cannot be otherwise. They complain of a bad taste in the mouth, a tenderness at the pit of the stomach, an uneasy feeling of puffiness, headache, heartburn and what not. The effective remedy, proved by permanent cures of thousands of severe cases, is Hood's Sarsaparilla. Hood's Pills are the best cathartic.

THE HERALD.

GREATER FAMILY WEEKLY

Dr. Waldeck made a flying trip to West Liberty the latter part of last week.

Owing to the snow storm of Tuesday night no mails left Hazel Green on Wednesday.

The snow, the snow, the beautiful snow, blocks the roads and the mails don't go; our coal is out and the fires burn low all because of that beautiful snow.

South Stamper and Andy Buskirk took a load of chickens and 200 dozen eggs to McCausey Thursday last.

GOOD NEWS comes from those who take Hood's Sarsaparilla for scrofula, dyspepsia and rheumatism. Reports agree that HOOD'S CURES.

Elder J. T. Peratt and H. D. Adams held a protracted meeting at Salem, Morgan county, Ky., 17 additions to the church.

Taylor Elam of Little Caney, Morgan county, removed to Stillwater on Thursday last, where he has rented a farm from Boone Tyra.

Notwithstanding there is coal all around and in the town of Hazel Green, the snow of Tuesday caught us and many others with very little or none on hand.

Send 35c and get a free trial of Wilson's Morphine Cure; tested for 14 years and always successful. Send to COOP. WILSON, 130-y Calvert, Texas.

Never before did the importance of good roads impress one as the present snow storm has. With good roads our mails could come and go and the people of our town would not be in the throes of a coal famine.

"LEARN TO LABOR AND TO WAIT."

BY SAM WILSON.

'Twas winter 'and the snow flakes flew Until the woods with whiteness grew; And there amid the storm's display, A girl was sawing logs each day!

On the passing world she turned her eyes, And saw 'twas better to be wise; And from the woods in youth's fair sheen She entered the college at Hazel Green.

This offspring of a humble birth Is filled with truth and gladness mirth; In learning well she calculates, And to it her time she consecrates.

She's there today in beauty's bloom And working for the brightest plume. Trying to attain that grand estate By learning "to labor and to wait."

Press on, fair girl, perhaps some day Others may see the better way; Still let thy light so brightly shine On treasures round thy heart sublime.

Now, to the curious and unknown friend, The heroine's name I will extend— As a living example from shore to shore, This dutiful girl is Mary Killgore.

"For the Sake of Fun, Mischief is Done." A vast amount of mischief is done, too, because people neglect to keep their blood pure. This mischief, fortunately, may be undone by the faithful use of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Hood's Pills cure liver ills. Non-irritating.

Whistling in the Pulpit.

Rev. Charley Webster, Charley Johnson and John Henry Bristow preached at the Frank Johnson school house on Lacy creek on Sunday last, and their discourse was very diverting if not altogether divine. Bro. Webster, in his desire to point the wayfarer on the way, wanted to read a passage of scripture. He took the bible and began turning the leaves and at the same time puckered his lips and began to whistle a tune as an accompaniment to his labor. The congregation was surprised but very much amused at this, and the reverend gentleman remarked: "I guess this is the first time you ever saw a man in the pulpit who was so full that he had to whistle." He did not say what the fullness consisted of, but presumably it was pent up religion. Those who heard him say that he can whistle as well as he can preach, and that the tune was an exhilarating one—something not unlike "the devil's dream." Others, however, contend that it was "Marching Through Georgia." Our informant says there is no doubt whatever about the whistling, though it is possible that the tune was a religious one.

Lyon's Laxative Syrup, Nature's Cure for Constipation. DOES NOT GRIPE. If you do not like it better than any laxative you have ever used, your druggist will refund the money. Good for children as well as grown people.

Sold by J. C. Stamper, Grassy Creek.

This snow storm caught us without coal or wood because roads were in such condition that wagons would not haul it. In fact, it was the largest that has been seen in this section for years. It was from 12 to 14 inches on the level.

THE HERALD and Monthly World one dollar a year, in advance.

Help... Nature

Babies and children need proper food, rarely ever medicine. If they do not thrive on their food something is wrong. They need a little help to get their digestive machinery working properly.

SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL WITH HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME & SODA

will generally correct this difficulty.

If you will put from one-fourth to half a teaspoonful in baby's bottle three or four times a day you will soon see a marked improvement. For larger children, from half to a teaspoonful, according to age, dissolved in their milk, if you so desire, will very soon show its great nourishing power. If the mother's milk does not nourish the baby, she needs the emulsion. It will show an effect at once both upon mother and child.

See and get on, all druggists. SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York.

EXERCISES IN COMPOSITION

Among Pupils Under Prof. Noah Cisco at The Academy.

Rosa Coldiron, 12 years of age, in grammar class of Hazel Green academy, Feb. 17, 1902.

THE SUNSET.

The eve has nearly dawned and the sun is setting. It is the most beautiful sun set I have ever seen. If you look in the west at the heavens you will see many different colors, red is the most. The brilliant sun is just peeping over the tops of the trees behind the high hills; the birds are flying home to their nest to the young ones, they know the day is nearly done for the sparkling sun is hiding her brilliancy behind the hills; the workman is plodding homeward across the weary lawn to his wife and children to rest till the sun shines out in the morning; the chickens are going to the chicken-house, and they all know by the sparkling sun going down that it is getting dark. What would the world be to enjoy if we had no sun to shine out and set. We can see all life's ills assured in the sunlight, and when the sun sets we can sleep and rest the body from all its toil and cares. The sun is setting on this side of the world, and just rising on the other side. The sun rises and sets in twenty-four hours of every day.

Ora Brown, age 10 years, in spelling class of Hazel Green academy, Feb. 17, 1902.

CREATION.

The term includes more than tongue can express. In the beginning God created the world and every creature thereon, and nature has endowed the earth with everything beautiful. Flowers springing from tiny seeds, streams bubbling from hillsides, and birds warbling their sweetest notes, all nature's creation claim our heart's warmest devotion. There may be creations in the fancy, there may be creations in art, but none can excel in grandeur and perfection the creations of nature. As far as eye can reach and as far as the feet may tread there will be new and wondrous works of Dame nature that is inspiring to the soul and pleasing to the eye. No skillful architecture of man can compare with the handiwork of God. From the tiniest living thing to the grand organism of man, there exists a consciousness of divinity; a creative power that defies competition. Then we, as nature's children, must have been created for some purpose being so generously blessed with talents above all other beings; it is our duty to improve them and cultivate our minds that we may be able to enjoy and appreciate the good, the true, and the beautiful in life.

AN IMAGINARY TOUR THRO' JAPAN.

Once I was traveling in Japan and it was a great sight to me to see the little boys and girls. I couldn't hardly tell the boys from the girls. The way to tell was that the boys heads are shaved almost bare, while the girl's hair is twisted into all odd shapes. They have large sleeves which are used for pockets to keep their toys in. They have wooden shoes tied on with strings, but they take them off at the door and do not wear them in the house. The girl has a day set apart for the "Feast of the dolls," and every girl has a doll, and there is a day set apart for the boys which is known as "play day" and every boy plays with dolls dressed like soldiers, and they have a nice time. The houses are made of bamboo with paper doors, paper windows, and many other things. At night they sleep under quilts with wooden blocks for pillows. There are no chairs, but they sit on mats of cloth or straw. They eat tea and rice most of the time, but they have no tables; they eat the rice out of a tray, and have two sticks for forks. It would be hard for us to get it to our mouth that way, but they can eat that way just the same as we can with forks. The principal plants are tea, rice, and bamboo. The children of Japan always are clean and they learn fast and have very good schools. They play games like we do, such as spinning tops, fly kites and roll snowballs, and they build great temples, and when they go to go in they pull their shoes off at the door, and they stand clapping their hands; this is the way they offer their prayers.

For Constipation

Take Lyon's Laxative Syrup; if you don't like it better than any laxative you have ever used, your druggist will refund the money. Price 50c. Sold by J. C. Stamper, Grassy Creek.

Mail Carrier-Kills a Bear.

Douglas Evans, the mail carrier between Campton and Torrent, one day last week, when about half way between the former and latter place, was attacked by a bear and compelled to dismount from his horse and climb a tree. But bruin was soon ascending the tree after him with alarming speed and agility, and it seemed likely that Uncle Sam's carrier would make a dinner for the bear, but Evans just then remembered the forty-five in his belt, which he had forgotten until then. A shot from the big gun tumbled the ferocious beast to the ground dead.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It.

How To Find Out.
Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours. A sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.
There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed that Dr. Kilmor's Swamp-Kidney, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Kidney is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail, Address Dr. Kilmor & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.
